THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE,

he Virginian presents this morn The text of the message of Gov.

Ferrall to the General Assembly. It yers a variety of subjects, all of ex-sling importance, to the people of s State. It will be rend with more in ordinary interest attached to pub-papers of this character. The Govconsiders that the holding of a ention to frame a new constitution id be unpolitic and involve an un-rai reassessment of lands of the mai reassessment of lands of the monwealth show an increase of 57,792 over that of 1890. He points a price to the fact that the treasury of ex-Consul Waller.

He points out that the educational interests of the lic schools are doing well, and siders that in the contracts for books for use in the same Virginia occupies All one year - - 85 00 a more favorable position than other six months - - 3 00 three months - - 150 university he expresses the belief that the Legislature will take such steps as will result speedlly in the full restora tion of that institution. He warmly re commends that the utmost liberality should be shown to the dependent sol diers and the widows of soldiers who served a Virginia command in the armiest of the Confederacy.

The Governor deals very exhaustive ly on the oyster question, and the pro-tection of the interests involved in the cultivation and business connected with planting and catching of the oysters. His views on this subject will, no doubt, command interest. He also very fully discusses the election law. He points out what he considers essential o a better execution of the law, embracing an amendment requiring that all ballots in each county and city be printed in plain and uniform size and style so that they can be easily read by all acquainted with the English lanruage. In his opinion he considers that so far the effect of the Walton law nust meet with the hearty support of every citizen who values orderly elec-tions, condemns the use of money at the polls and desires to see a free, un-trammeled and unpurchased expres-sion of the will of the people." He is emphatic in his denunctation of lynch law and recommends the passage of stringent laws looking to the punishment of all engaged in such acts of violations of law. The Governor enter into a full history of the employment of the military at Pocahontas to pro-tect property in that section of the State, and defends his course in the matter. He estimates that the entire cost of supporting the troops at Poca hontas was less than 6 cents on the thousand dollars of the value of the real and personal property of the State. He considers that in this matter a great fundamental principle of gov

The Governor minces no words in de prize fighting. He points to the fact that other States have driven horse race gambling from their borders and prohibited prize fighting in all its forms Public morals condemn these evells. He urges the General Assembly to adopt such laws as will forever banish these practices from the confines of Virginia tituted to their uses, and he is confident that the Legislature will answer the questions connected with these matters as the moral and orderly masses of Virginia expect.

Fort Spring, W. Va., Sept. 3, 1898, Mit. PitATT-MR. PRATT:

Dear Sir: Enclosed please find check for 517.50, balance on Electropoise, as I feel like it would be impossible to do without it. It has helped me so much that I do not feel like the same person, I am so much stronger, and my health is better every stronger, and my heatm is better essay way.

Before I commenced using it I suffered so much with rheumatism, enlargement of the liver, dreadful pain in back of heed, could not expose myself in damp weather without some ill effects. Since using the Electropoise I can go out in damp weather and rain and don't feel any bad effects. So the general improvement of my health I owe to the Electropoise.

Respectfully.

MES. E. P. HUDDLESTIEN.

I dislike to give my name to the public, yet I ought not to hesitate, if the testimonial would be of benefit to the afflicted, I can't say too much in praise, so I grant you permission to use my letter, hoping it will be the rause of selling others.
